

Quality- & Environmental policy

With customer service for quality- and environmental awareness, we will market and stock a wide range of sealings, gaskets, valves and instrumentations.

We will do this by prioritizing high product quality, delivery precision and beneficial total price. We should have an open and honest communication with our partners to understand and meet their needs and requirements. Our work should contribute to protecting our environment and reducing our negative environmental impact.

Our goal is to achieve our partners' expectations. We do this by doing the right thing from the start in our processes, complying with applicable laws, regulations and other regulations and binding requirements. We must take individual responsibility for quality and environment in our own work, follow instructions and routines in our management system, report deviations and risks and strive for continuous improvement.

We want to be perceived as the good company where we put social responsibility and sustainability issues in constant focus.
